

Special Notice to Graduate Students

The CPAD Conference Committee has some funding available with which to subsidize the registration fees for graduate students who are interested in this topic and would like to attend the conference.

Interested applicants for CPAD Graduate Student Conference registration Subsidy are invited to send the following information to CPAD Conference c/o Dr. Jean Wittenberg

Special Registration Subsidy:

Twenty-Five seats are reserved for post graduate students at a rate of fifty dollars for the two-day conference. If you wish to apply, please fill out the registration form and submit the following information:

1. Name and full contact information
2. Institution, program and level of study
3. Reason for wishing to attend and relevance to area of study
4. Enclosed payment of fifty dollars to CPAD
5. Letter from program coordinator verifying program and level of study

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of relevance to study area and usefulness of the conference to career development. The fee will be returned if application is unsuccessful. The fee will not be returned if application is cancelled or withdrawn after the application has been accepted.

The amount of the graduate student registration subsidy will effectively reduce the One hundred dollar graduate student registration fee for a two day conference to only fifty dollars. Conference registrations provide access to all conference programs activities and materials and include refreshments and lunches for both days.
